SALOON'S GOING IS A BOON TO LABOR

SECOND EXHAUSTIVE SURVEY SHOWS RISE IN BANK SAVINGS

Trade Gains Thru Improved Morale--Waning of Treating Habit--Moonshines' Effect Is Deplored--Deaths
From Liquor Have Leaped
Since 1920 Is Revealed.

"The disappearance of the saloon and the treating habit has undoubtedly been a great boon to the American workingman. Good authority can also be found for the statement that industry has profited very materially thru heightened morale since prohibition went into effect. Deaths from alcoholism have increased since 1920, when they were at a minimum, the they are still below 1910, when the saloon was in full bloom."

These are certain of the conclusions reached by the research department of the Federated Council of Churches, after an exhaustive survey of the effect of prohibition, and presented in the second installment of a series of reports on the subject, made public Monday.

"It is noteworthy that a questionnaire, sent as a part of this investigation to a thousand or more men, directors in important corporations selected at random, asking for their verdict as business men upon prohibition, yielded a predominantly 'wet' result—not, apparently, so much because of adverse effects upon business or industry as because of strong personal prejudice and dissatisfaction with the social and political results of prohibition as they saw them," the report states.

Chicago's Condition Noted.
Conditions in Chicago were studied before and after prohibition. Regarding the second period covered, October 1, 1923, to July 1, 1924, the report says:

"In the 18 cases where it was possible to ascertain where the liquor was obtained the following result was found: Saloons, 5; homes, 4; neighbors, 4; poolrooms, 3; disorderly house, 1; restaurant, 1.

"None of the individuals drinking during this second period appeared to have the least difficulty in obtaining all the drink they wanted and whenever they wanted. The Dever raids of October, 1923, closed up places for a while, but very soon afterward drink appeared as plentiful as ever.

"Further," the investigators said, "it was found that the effects of drink appeared to be about the same as they were in connection with pre-prohibition drinking, such as non-support abuse, desertion and the like, with one big exception.

"The drinking of moonshine appeared to have a decidedly bad effect on the mental condition of the individual, which was not present to such a striking degree before prohibition. In seven cases the individual developed a definite psychosis due to drink.

Charity Appeals Cited.
"More families gave drink as their reason for asking aid of the charity in 1923-24, five years after prohibition than in 1918-19, before prohibition."

The report quotes employers in the district as observing "less absenteeism, more efficient workers, less discharging, much less drinking, healthier and better dressed employees and more saving."

Charts presented on deaths from alcoholic causes showed a drop in 1920 and a rise thereafter, with the exception of cirrhosis, which dropped in 1923.

"It will be noted that the death rate from alcoholism fell lower proportionately prior to 1920 and has risen higher proportionately since 1920," the report says.

In New York it was found, the death rate from alcoholism has jumped sharply since 1920, but the death rate from cirrhosis has remained almost the same. Similar conditions were found in Massachusetts.

Rise in Savings Shown.

"Another interesting point," it was stated, "is that the alcoholic death rate in Kansas has actually increased during national prohibition. It had all but disappeared in 1919, but has flared up somewhat since, altho the 1923 figure showed a slight reduction from 1922."

Statistics are presented to show the rise in savings in banks in recent years, but the report declares that "the appeal to specific economics data increased business activity, growing bank deposits, etc., to prove the effects of prohibition must be made very guardedly."

Many other cases are declared to have contributed to the increased national prosperity since 1921.

TWO WOMEN TARRED AND FEATHERED

By a Cowardly Mob of Men in the Streets of Jacksonville, Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 14. (UP).—Police today sought members of a mob of 150 men who Sunday night tarred and feathered two young white women following their escape from the city prison farm, where they were serving a thirty day sentence on a disorderly conduct charge.

The women, who had served less than two weeks of their sentence, according to police, were taken to a secluded spot by the mob and tarred and feathered. Later, clad only in gunny sacks, they were dropped on a downtown Jacksonville street with a warning to leave town.

Gaining entrance to a nearby rooming house, the two women, who are sisters, cleaned themselves and disappeared, leaving behind them clothing they had worn at the prison farm.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From the Wires by Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

(United Press)

Cleveland, Sept. 14. (UP).—Two armed bandits Monday held up the Max Stein jewelry company in the heart of the city and took diamonds valued a $10,000.

The bandits tied the proprietor, Stein, to a chair with a customer who was in the store. They escaped in an automobile amidst a rain of bullets.

Stein broke loose soon after the bandits left the store and shouted for assistance. Police pursued the bandit car and a running pistol duel thru downtown streets ensued. Finally the robbers abandoned the machine and police recovered the jewels.

Waverly.—A shattered school girl romance is believed to have caused Cleo Newman, 14 years old, to shoot herself thru the heart with a pistol here Monday.

Members of the family said she had been despondent recently after a spat with a boy friend.

The girl dressed for school Monday morning and went to the rear of a barn, where she turned the gun to her breast. Her body was found by a workman.

ROBERT RECTOR MARY R. TOLBERT

Winners of Second Prize in State Fair Health Entrants Contest.

Results of the health examinations of 44 girls and 22 boys who entered health contest at the Ohio State fair, tabulated by the state department of health, were announced Monday.

Irene Wolfe, Coshocton county, aged 15, headed all the entrants with a percentage of 93.336. Walter Briley, 16, Athens county, was first among the boys with a percentage of 93.226.

Four boys and five girls, eight of them in teams from two counties and the fifth, Miss Wolfe, as an individual, ranked at the top in health evaluation. The 66 girls and boys represented county boys' and girls' clubs of 51 counties in Ohio.

The four teams ranking highest were:

First—Montgomery county; Robert Weller, 12, percentage 91.987; Freda Shock, 17, percentage 92.225.

Second—Pickaway county; Robert Rector, 12, percentage, 93.179; Mary Ruth Tolbert, 10, percentage, 90.110.

Third—Athens county; Walter Briley, 16, percentage 93.226; Esther Wilson, 15, percentage, 89.905.

Fourth—Columbiana county; Harmon Hull, 14, percentage, 87.255; Aileen Riddle, 11, percentage, 92.119.

So successful was this year's contest considered by its sponsors, that they are preparing for a broader and more elaborate program for 1926.

These sponsors, the state department of health, the college of agriculture at Ohio State university, the state department of agriculture and the management of the boys' and girls' clubs, have laid out a plan which would include three health examinations during the year, two to be held locally as elimination contests for the selection of county teams, and the third at the Ohio state fair next year. The winning team in the state contest next year will be awarded a cup to be given by the department of agriculture. This trophy will be competed for annually.

Winning teams this year will be given a trip to Chicago to attend the national livestock show this fall.

John Reel, who was injured in the Winorr Canning factory at Williamsport on August 31, was given an X-Ray examination at the office of Dr. D. V. Courtwright today.

COVICT MADE STATE BRICK ARE STAMPED

Every brick that is turned out at the Junction City brick plant by prisoners from the penitentiary, is being stamped "convict made." This action is in accordance with an agreement entered into several weeks ago where by the state welfare department will be permitted to sell all prison made brick providing they are plainly marked to indicate that they were manufactured by prisoners.

As a result of this agreement, the state is enabled not only to sell paving block to the highway division, but the building brick and even the "seconds" now can be offered on the open market. Disposition of second class brick always has been a problem. The old board of administration sold these to private contractors and builders, and this same plan was carried out in part by Director of Public Welfare John E. Harper, until he was prevented from selling them by order of the courts.

Objection was made to the selling of this brick unless plainly marked as prison made.

INDIAN LEAD KING

Chief Tom McCauley, whose Indian name is Run Deer, of the Omaha tribe, is reputed to be worth more than a million dollars. Lead was found on the land the government gave him and he is now called the "lead king."

SOCIAL CALENDAR

STATE'S MOTOR POPULATION IS 1,250,000

Ohio Has a Half Million More Autos Than That of All England.

Ohioans operate nearly 1,250,000 automobiles, according to records of the U. S. bureau of public roads. The state's motor population is thus 500,000 more than that of England, the "Boost Ohio Committee" of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards says.

In operating their automobiles, the motorists of the state use 450 gallons of gasoline per year per car.

In addition to the means of transportation afforded in the 1,250,000 automobiles, Ohio has 94 steam railroads operating in its borders and 85 street railways and interurban lines. Altho they do not figure in transportation to any extent, the canals of the state have a water stretch of 611 miles.

Highways in the state have a total mileage of 85,000. Of these miles, 12,500 are paved and 25,400 are of secondary construction. Twenty millions of dollars are being spent this year on the Ohio state highways system.

Of the 467 American bulk freighters on the Great Lakes in 1924, 351 were Cleveland-managed. The committee declares that in total tonnage Cleveland is a greater port than Liverpool, England.

POSTER CONTEST KIDS ADVERTISE

High School Pupils of Ohio
May Now Try Their Hand Says Supervisor.

Three hundred and fifty-two Farmers' institutes are already scheduled for this coming winter, the first three to be held in Monroe, Noble and Tuscarawas counties on October 26 and 27, and since no posters will be issued from the college this year Supervisor F. L. Allen at Ohio State university urges grade and high school teachers to encourage pupils to enter the state wide poster contest to advertise these institutes.

This contest has been open to grade pupils for the past two years. This year for the first time it is open to high school students also. The contest for high school students is to be judged separately and additional prizes of $150 will be given for the best 52 posters. The first prize for both grade and high school pupils will be $25. Second prize will be $15, third $10 the next five $5 each, the next eight $3 each and the next twenty-one $1 each.

The posters must advertise the local institute and must be the handiwork of the pupils who enter it in the contest. The poster must be 14 by 22 inches in size and must be displayed in some public place other than the school building for at least one week before the institute begins.

Local judging will be done at the institute and the best one from each institute will be sent to the State university at Columbus for the final state wide contest.

School superintendents and teachers or your county agricultural agent, can give the details in full.

Cattle Outlook Is Encouraging

Prospects for Scarcity of Fed Steers and Higher Prices Anticipated.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Beef cattle are in a stronger position than a year ago and with prospects for a scarcity of fed steers this fall, higher prices are anticipated, according to the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, in its beef cattle outlook report. A large supply of corn at reasonable prices and a material reduction in the supply of hogs are also in prospect. This should result in an active demand for feeder cattle.

Supply of Cattle.

While there has been some liquidation and consequent reduction in numbers of cattle in some areas, it is not believed that the total market supply of grass cattle this fall will be materially less than the number marketed in 1924. Heavy marketing from important Western cattle production regions during the past three years has been offset somewhat by favorable weather and feed conditions. Calf crops have been large and losses small.

A short corn crop and high corn prices brought about in 1924 a material reduction in the stocker and feeder movement into the corn belt feedlots during the past 12 months. Finishers generally have followed a policy of marketing fed stock early with the result that market receipts during the remainder of the year are expected to be decidedly less than usual and prices should continue upward, especially for the better grades.

A relatively small supply of the better grades of heavy steers is now coming to market and they are selling on a parity with lightweights which commanded a premium through the latter half of 1924 and the first part of 1925. As there is a limited demand for heavyweights they are not likely to command a premium for any great period of time.

Feeder Cattle Demand.

The July 1 report of the department forecast an increase in the corn crop in the Corn Belt states of 35 per cent over last year. The June pig survey showed that the number of hogs on farms is the lowest in several years. If the large corn crop materializes there will doubtless be an active demand for feeder cattle to fill the gap. Higher prices for fed steers will also tend to stimulate demand for feeder cattle as well as for low-grade cattle for slaughter.

No material change in the domestic demand for beef is expected during the remainder of the year, but the smaller supply of hogs as compared with the past year should be a sustaining factor for beef. The European demand for meats increased during the past year, but so far as beef is concerned most of the European trade is supplied from Argentina, and it seems likely that this will continue. As long as European markets absorb the Argentine surplus it is unlikely that there will be any considerable movement of beef from that country to the United States.

Pruning Necessary for Tender Grade Varieties

Pruning is necessary for tender grape varieties such as Concord and Brighton which need to be laid down and covered with dirt to avoid winter killing. The removal of excess wood makes covering easier. Fall pruning is also recommended for the hardy varieties.

Vines in their first season are usually cut back to one or two buds. This may be repeated the second year, particularly if the vines are weak. Developing the permanent training system for the vine is started with vigorous vines in the second season and in all other cases in the third year. The system selected at first should be continued without change. Changing the system will reduce the crop.

The "fan" system is common and easy to follow. Five vigorous canes are selected each fall and pruned to eight or ten buds each. All other growth is removed. With hardy varieties the selected canes may be tied at once to the trellis, spreading the canes like the ribs of a fan. Tender varieties are tied up in the spring after the dirt covering has been off for three or four days.

The "horizontal trunk" system is also common and is very easy to handle for winter protection. One strong cane is left in the second or third year and tied horizontally on a wire about 12 to 18 inches from the ground. The following year the lateral shoots from this cane are cut back to spurs eight to twelve inches long and the shoot at the end of the cane is used to extend the horizontal trunk to a total length of eight or ten feet. After the trunk is developed the lateral growth is cut back to spurs each fall.

—W. G. Brierley, associate professor of horticulture, University of Minnesota.

Sweet Soil for Hubam

Like the other sweet clovers and alfalfa, Hubam will not grow on sour soil. If your soil is sour, be sure to lime it before seeding the clover. With the many legume crops we have nowadays no small grain should ever be seeded without seeding one of them with it. No matter how much hay a man may have he should always sow a legume with his small grain, if for no other reason than to plow it under in the fall or the following spring.

WE SAVE YOU MONEY.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

Easy to Remember

John B. Wright, of Tucson, recently appointed United States attorney of Arizona, knows the license number of his automobile without looking up a memorandum. He knows it because it is identical with the number of his house, the number of his postoffice box and his telephone number. He lives at 646 South Sixth street and it took him years to achieve the simplification of numbers.

Olivet, Mich.—Methods of putting into business the principles of allowing workers to dictate the salary of officials, handling executive business of the company through a council of workers and making the same rules for workers as executives were outlined by William P. Haggood, president of the Columbia Conserve company of Indianapolis before the conference of the Fellowship for a Christian Social Order.

Haggood declared he allowed his workers to decide what his salary should be, had repeatedly refused increases of salary and had protested that his salary was already too high.

At present, the speaker said, profits are being used to buy out the stockholders. The goal of the workers is complete ownership of the business.

PRISONERS AT LONDON
FARM CANNING TOMATOESThirty-five Thousand Gallons Canned 1000 Gallons of Soup—Five Tons of Sweet Corn Husked and Dried—Making of Sauer Kraut to Begin Within Two Weeks.

More than 35,000 gallons of tomatoes will be canned by prisoners at the London farm during the next two or three weeks. Approximately 1,000 gallons of tomato soup will be canned. This is the juice of the small ripened fruit boiled down so that from four to six parts of water must be added when it is served. The 1,000 gallons will make about 5,000 gallons of tomato soup when served.

The prisoners have husked and dried almost five tons of sweet corn. This is hauled direct to the factory from the fields and while one group of men husks the corn, another removes the silks and within an hour after being picked from the stock the corn is shredded and in the dryer.

Experiment.

The canning factory was established as an experiment by the present administration, but so successful has been the work of the prisoners there that an addition may be erected next year to care for the increased amount of canned goods that will be put up for consumption at the London farm.

The supply of tomatoes fresh from the field not only will be enough to supply the needs of the 500 men at London, and the 1800 or more at the penitentiary, but shipments of the canned product will be made to other state institutions.

The making of sauerkraut for use this winter will begin within a few weeks, Director Harper said, Saturday. The prisoners have made several hundred gallons which will be for early use, but more than 1,000 barrels will be made from late cabbage at London and other state institutions. Sauerkraut has been found to be one of the most wholesome dishes that can be served institution inmates, and a larger amount will be made this year than ever before.

FLAMES COVER

GAS EXPLODESSpark From Automobile in Filling Station Starts Most Disastrous Blaze.

Mt. Vernon, Sept. 15 (UP).—Two firemen were killed and a dozen burned in a $50,000 fire which swept the Knox Oil company storage yard here late Monday night.

The dead and most seriously injured were near a 10,000 gallon gasoline tank when it exploded.

The dead:
Lloyd Squires, 18, volunteer fireman
Ralph Simpson, 50, substitute city fireman.

Two other firemen, Milton Parrott and Forrest Sabbath, are in a critical condition but have a chance to recover. Fire Chief U. G. Pickard and several other firemen were less seriously burned.

The explosion of the tank tossed several firemen bodily into a nearby stream where they were pulled out by spectators. Squires was hurled over a railway embankment where his body was found later.

The storage yard contained 23 huge tanks of gasoline, each containing from 1,000 to 15,000 gallons of gasoline and other oil products. Twenty of these tanks were destroyed by the fire. The aggregate loss of gasoline, oil and benzol will be more than 100,000 gallons.

Killing for Food, and Fun

The contrast between the native Indians of the jungle, who kill for food, and the white man, who kills for fun, was brought out strongly by T. Gilbert Pearson, who returned to New York recently from a scientific exploration trip to the Isthmus, the Kansas City Star states.

Mr. Pearson told of the ornithological investigations recently carried on in the jungles of Panama, not far from the home territory of the White Indians, at the instance of President Porras of the Panama government, who wished to know what conservation measures were necessary to protect the birds and animals of the Isthmus. The conclusion was reached that the natives, though cruel, were not destructive; they fitted into the natural life of the jungle without upsetting anything. But the coming of the Americans changed the situation. Americans from the Canal Zone would go out on hunting trips and simply kill anything they saw. Vast numbers of birds and animals also had begun to find their way into the markets for American purchasers. To stop this, conservation laws have been passed by the Panamanian parliament.

DINNER-DANCE

Miss Margaret Crosson and her fiance, Donald A. Wiley, formerly of Cincinnati, now of Washington, were entertained at dinner this evening at the Congressional Country Club by Mr. and Mrs. Logan Payne. Dancing followed the dinner party, at which members of the bridal party were among the guests. They included Miss Theresa Crosson, sister of the bride-elect, maid of honor; Miss Margaret Wiley, sister of the bridegroom-elect; Miss Dorothy Mondell, daughter of former Representative Frank W. Mondell; Miss Virginia McKenney and Miss Eleanor Mills, bridesmaids; Andrew Wiley, brother of the bridegroom-elect, best man; William Wiley, another brother; John Massey and Lawrence Murphy, of Cincinnati; John Christian and Sidney Wardecker, of New York, and Allan Gardner, of Cincinnati, ushers. Miss Crosson and Mr. Wiley have not permitted themselves to be entertained as their friends would like to entertain them and have declined all but a few invitations which are for very formal affairs. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wiley, of Cincinnati, parents of the bridegroom-elect, have arrived from their summer home at Bass Rocks on the north shore of Massachusetts, and until after the wedding are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, at their suburban place, Friendship. Miss Wiley is the guest of Miss Crosson in her home at 1746 M street, a few doors from the home of Speaker-elect and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth. The brothers of the bridegroom-elect are his guests at the Racquet Club.

The father of the groom-to-be is a native of Tarlton, this county.

Grease for Baldness

"I had a bit of good fortune recently," said a Detroit photographer. "I was going past a market when I noticed that quite a crowd had gathered around the carcass of a huge black bear suspended from a hook at the door. I found the proprietor and, after a short session of dickering, he cut a huge chunk of fat from the interior of the former noble animal. I took this home and my wife tried it out—with the result that I now have a large pan of bear's grease on hand. So far, my story is not unusual. But, bear's grease is said to be a most effective hair-grower, and I am now combating the ravages of time very effectually. I apply the grease every night on my bald spot, and I think I can already see where results are forthcoming."

Voice From a Fan

The latest gramophone has no horn, no tone-arm, and no sound-box. In place of these there is a plaited upright diaphragm 14 inches in diameter. At the bottom of this fan is a needle-holder, very like the ordinary one, into which the needle is fitted and set going on the record in the usual way.

This simple apparatus is said to reproduce a voice so well that if the gramophone is placed behind a screen it is impossible to say whether a human being is there or a machine.

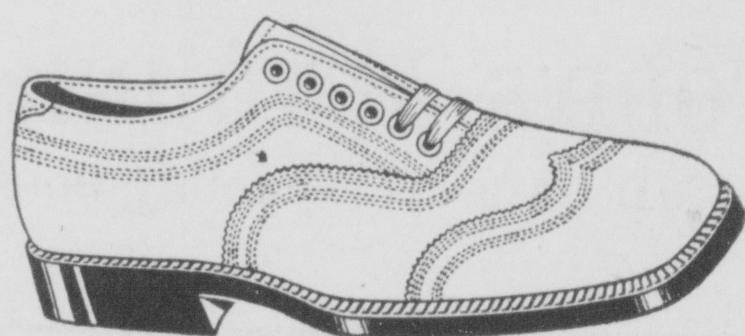

The inventor is a Frenchman, M. Lumiere, who was making investigations into acoustics when he was surprised to hear a strange noise coming from the center of a fan of plaited paper with which he was experimenting.

Seek to Stop Blasphemy
An Italian society is conducting a vigorous popular campaign against blasphemy with the approval of the church. In many Italian cities one may see posted on the walls hundreds of such admonitions as "Blasphemy soils your mouth and detracts from the forcefulness of your speech" and "When you blaspheme you make yourself ridiculous." In Florence a society seeks by similar methods to remind the public of the ten commandments. The pedestrian, rounding a corner, may suddenly find himself face to face with enormous letters admonishing him, "Thou shalt not steal," or the other thou shalt not.

Antiblasphemy days are common in many Italian cities, and are the occasions for splendid public processions, in which the local clergy take part.

MEAT PACKERS COMBINATION IS LEGALIZED

Armour-Morris Meat Packing Combination Confirmed by Sec. of Agriculture Jardine.

Washington, Sept. 15 (UP).—Secretary of Agriculture Jardine today announced he had dismissed the complaint against the merger of the Mammoth Armour meat packing interests with Morris and company, another of the big five packing companies.

The complaint was made in February, 1923, by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, under the packers and stock yards act and it charged that the Armour Co., by its $30,000,000 purchase of the Morris company constituted a restraint of interstate commerce and tended to create a monopoly.

The secretary of agriculture administrators this law and has power to annul the merger thru a "cease and desist" order if he had found it proper to do so.

Jardine's announcement this afternoon followed a conference with President Coolidge at the White House in which this question was thoroughly gone over.

Secretary Jardine held that acquisition by Armour and company of the physical properties business and good will of Morris and company, does not in itself constitute a violation of the law, which provides against manipulating or controlling prices, creating a monopoly or restraining commerce.

With the dismissal which was "without prejudice," Jardine warned "in the event that Armour and company violate any of the provisions of the packers and stock yards act, there is ample power and authority in the secretary of agriculture's hands under that act, to take appropriate and effective action."

Jardine ruled that neither the purpose or the effect of the merger was price fixing, monopoly or unreasonable restraint of trade. He held that the evidence showed that the sanction was consummated in order to reduce overhead expenses and to increase the sales of the finished products.

The packers merger case has been before three secretaries of agriculture, Wallace, Gore and Jardine.

"After careful consideration of the entire record and the arguments of counsel," Jardine said, "I find and conclude that the evidence is insufficient to sustain the charges maintained in the complaint and therefore this proceeding is dismissed without prejudice."

NATIONAL BODY TO WAR ON CRIMINALS

Score of Influential Men to Push Fight.

New York.—War has been declared against the growing cohorts of crime. A score of influential men pledged themselves at a meeting in the office of Elbert H. Gary to do their utmost to stem the tide of lawlessness now sweeping the country. Their efforts will be exerted through the national crime commission, which, instead of a temporary body as at first planned, is to be organized permanently with nationwide affiliations.

Headquarters will be opened in New York and crimes of violence will be the first to come under attack. Mr. Gary promised assistance, financial and otherwise. He has been asked to head the commission, but his decision is not yet known.

An executive committee of five or six members, representative of the entire country, is planned. The work of drawing up the nominating slate is in the hands of a committee headed by George W. Wickersham, former attorney general of the United States.

Making Map in Clouds
Half a dozen planes are engaged in the task of producing a novel map of London. Observers are photographing the whole of the Metropolitan area in sections, and these photographs, when placed together and the parts which overlap deleted, will form a complete aerial map. It will show not only the streets, but all the principal buildings, so that it will facilitate sightseeing on the part of country and foreign visitors. The work necessarily means a great deal of flying, and its progress depends upon the state of the weather, but if average progress is made the map will be finished shortly.

HOG THE CORN LESSENS COST

Green County Farmers Figures Shows Also That Stalk Husking Pays.

Farmers in Greene county who hogged off a portion of their corn crop and husked the remainder on the stalk made more money on corn in the past five years than those who cut, shocked and husked it all.

The figures for this survey were kept by the farmers themselves, and F. L. Morison, rural economist at Ohio State university who compiled the figures, says that by proper planning these men of the Ohio corn belt who let the hogs do part of the work, greatly reduced labor costs.

"Based on the figures secured in Greene county from 1920 to 1925," writes Mr. Morison, "a farmer who has 40 acres of corn will spend 143 days of man labor in raising and harvesting his corn crop if he cuts, shocks and husks it, as is the common custom in central Ohio. If five acres are 'hogged off' the 40-acre corn crop will take 131 days of man labor. Hogging off not only saves labor in harvesting the corn, but also saves in caring for the hogs.

"Another method of saving man labor is husking corn off the standing stalks thereby saving the time of cutting and shocking. This method is quite common in those sections of the state where oats are grown in the rotation instead of wheat.

"If this farmer with 40 acres of corn, hogs off 10 acres and husks the remainder off the stalk it will require only 78 days of man labor to raise and harvest his corn crop, or 65 days less than if he were to cut, shock and husk it all. At the high wages paid for this extra harvesting labor, the saving in man labor would amount to more than twice the value of the stover left standing in the field."

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSE

General Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices.

Hegele Will Probated.
The will of John Frederick Hegele has been probated.

The testator during his life, gave a deed to lot No. 261 on the south side of East Main street to his wife, Lida Agnes Hegele given in lieu of dower interest. The testator gave to his son, Charles Frederick Hegele, 37 feet off the west side of lot 262, on East Main street. The latter died since the will was made. This lot is to be sold by his executor and the proceeds are to be reinvested in a piece of property and the deed to same is to be made in the name of William Frederick Hegele and at his death, it is to be given to his children.

Lida Agnes Hegele is named and was appointed executor. The estate is estimated to be worth $4,250, of which $50 is personal.

The will is dated August 28, 1916, and was witnessed by George H. Pontius and J. F. Bales.

BLAME THE FLORIST

A town was dedicating a new concert hall with appropriate ceremony. The floral decorations were lavish. A visitor remarked to one of the town fathers at a lull in the program: "The acoustics are very good, don't you think?"

"They ought to be," replied his host. "The florist's bill was enough to run up the taxes for every one of us."

AMUSEMENTS

Eleanor Boardman makes her debut as a screen comedienne in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "The Way of a Girl" which opened last night at the Met theater for an engagement of two days. After appearing in such pictures as "Wife of the Centaur" and "So This is Marriage" Miss Boardman in "The Marriage," of Miss Boardman in "The Way of a Girl" demonstrates her versatility by playing comedy with sparkling gaiety and nerve.

"The Way of a Girl" is a distinct addition to motion pictures. It is a unique combination of comedy and melodrama, and is enhanced with some of the most spectacular scenes on the screen in recent months.

For sheer beauty of photography, we have seen nothing in recent fight scenes. Robert G. Vignola, the director, and his cameraman, John Arnold, are to be congratulated for the tremendous suggestion of great lighting.

Besides Miss Boardman, the cast includes Matt Moore, William Russell and Mathew Betz. "The Way of a Girl" was adapted by Albert Shelby LeVino from the novel by Katherine Newlin Burt.

NATIONAL FAME.
The Mid-Week Pictorial of New York, under date of September 10, an illustrated paper with a national circulation, published the picture of little Miss Rosemary Jackson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry D. Jackson. The photo-gravure shows Miss Jackson with an armful of Rosemary gladioli, her namesake flower. This is the name given this year's production of Dr. Bales' famed gladioli. To see the picture one does not know which to choose as the prettiest the flower or its namesake.

NEW FORD CAR ON DISPLAY.
Salesroom Open Evenings.
All this week the Ford salesroom will be open evenings for the display of the new, improved Ford car. More than a thousand people looked over this car on Saturday evening. It is universally acknowledged that more than a hundred dollars has been added to the value of the new Ford car, still there has been no change in price.
We will be more than pleased to explain the improvements on the car to any one who cares to drop in to see it.

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milch cows to provide

- (1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;
- (2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;
- (3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

SIX BIG RESERVOIRS UNEARTHED IN WEST

50,000-Year-Old Tanks Are Found in Spring Valley.

Gold Hill, Utah.—A series of six immense reservoirs believed to have been constructed about 50,000 years ago have been discovered in Spring valley, Nevada, by members of the Cosmographic society.

The reservoirs are triangular and range from a few inches to 60 feet in depth. The retaining walls are about 800 yards long and are feathered back into the hillside. The walls are from six to twenty-five feet thick and are believed to be composed of granite, covered with debris.

The huge tanks overlook a once fertile valley, where coal deposits have since been found. It is thought by members of the society that the reservoirs were used for irrigation purposes.

Claims that the reservoirs resulted from glacial action have been denied by the Cosmographic society, which points out that no trick of a glacier could construct six perfectly symmetrical masonry formations.

In a limestone cave in the mountainside above the reservoirs members of the Smithsonian Institution found several crude implements and weapons, among which were several "arrow springs," a little wooden rod with one end bent into a hook. The arrow was placed into the crook and the rod sprung after the fashion of the catapult. The "arrow spring" is considered to have preceded the bow by several hundred years.

Thousand-Year-Old Relics Unearthed by Ohio Farmer

Columbus, Ohio.—The Ohio State Archeological and Historical society received one of the most important finds of prehistoric people ever made in the Buckeye state.

George N. Miller, farmer of near Jackson, gave the institution the skeletons of five adult and two adolescent Indians.

Miller found the skeletons and a considerable quantity of domestic utensils in a "rock shelter" in the vicinity of his farm.

The bones, to which some of the flesh still was clinging, were estimated to be more than 1,000 years old by Dr. W. C. Mills, director of the society.

Bits of pottery, fiber moccasins, bone implements, fiber grave clothing and other material was found in the shelter, all in a remarkable state of preservation, equaled heretofore, according to Doctor Mills, only by discoveries in the arid regions of the southwestern part of the United States and in South American areas.

A rock shelter, Doctor Mills explained, is formed by the washing away of the soft strata of rock, leaving a hard strata to form a roof. Under this natural protection Indians in prehistoric days made their home.

One of the most interesting features brought to light was the fact that apparently there had been some attempt made to embalm the bodies. This was shown by the tissue clinging to the bones.

Fire Attacks 618 Homes in United States Daily

Washington. — Fire attacks 618 homes every day of the year, according to a report made public by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. This means a residential fire every three minutes.

The total fire loss for the period 1919-1923 was $322,310,604.

The causes of the destruction were as follows: Defective chimneys and flues, $36,991,288; sparks on roofs, $31,379,884; stoves, furnaces, boilers and their pipes, $24,348,965; matches, smoking, $19,129,382; petroleum and its products, $16,423,245; and electricity, $15,445,984.

Four of these originating causes were pronounced preventable long since by fire prevention engineers and the other two are acknowledged to be partly avoidable.

324 Bathing Beauties

Long Beach, Cal.—A throng of pleasure seekers estimated in excess of 100,000 jammed the street and strand of Long Beach to see for themselves a parade of 324 bathing beauties whose appearance various church and reform organizations had fought for six weeks to prevent.

Study Weather at U. S. Flying Schools

San Francisco.—Army service schools at the Presidio of San Francisco and elsewhere have begun to turn weather prophets.

The military importance of the subject has led army men to a deep study of atmospheric conditions. Graduates of the meteorological section of the signal school are placed on duty along the numerous War department airways, where weather forecasts must be supplied to aviators before they start on flights. Not only temperatures and storms must be predicted, but upper air currents and the direction and duration of winds.

In planning the erection of new airdromes and flying fields the experts are given careful hearings.

SIDE COLLISION

Sunday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock the automobiles of Dr. O. J. Towers of this city, and Joshua Liston were in a side collision on the Adelphi pike, six miles east of the city. Both machines were being driven in the same direction when the accident occurred; in the collision the Liston machine was turned around in the road; the only person injured was the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Liston, who had a contusion on the back of her head.

Birds Faster Than Trains

Wild birds are capable of attaining great speed in flight. There is on record a swallow that traveled at the rate of 106 miles an hour, and a homing pigeon commonly will go more than 60 miles an hour, it is said. Even a pelican has been known to make 50 miles an hour and a wild duck has been credited with 59 miles an hour.

ROAD MANNERS

You are, say, a typical American. You have a car of some kind and call yourself a driver. You are as good as anybody and not disposed to take anybody's impudence. A free man in a free country?

Now observe freedom as it functions on the highway.

The car ahead is going about as fast as you wish to go, but you don't enjoy being behind. You speed up to pass it and then slow down again to give it your dust.

Again you are going as fast as you wish to go and a car behind toots for gangway. You speed up—not for any particular reason, but just to thwart the other fellow.

You are on the main highway and a car darts in from a side road. A collision is narrowly averted. "Fool," you mutter.

You are on a side road and dart into the main highway, narrowly missing a speeding car, "Fool," you mutter.

No policeman in sight, you make a left turn where left turns are forbidden. You feel adventurous. Five minutes later another adventurer attempts the same thing and grazes your innocent fender. "Why, the infernal idiot!" you cry.

You attempt to pass a car even though another is coming full speed. You think you can make it. You do. The car you are passing slows down; the one coming head-on slides on locked wheels. Thus two cautious drivers save a fool from his folly. Your heart skips four beats, but you glow with pride in your achievement.

Freedom is a wonderful thing. It makes men self-reliant and self-respecting and—er—ill-mannered.—Baltimore American.

In Ohio we have a dim-light law which is strictly observed by less than 30 per cent of the drivers.

ATTACKED BY VICIOUS SOW

Last Saturday a little son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hill, of Washington township, was attacked by a vicious sow and had his left arm and head injured before being rescued by his brother. Dr. Huddel, of Stoutsville, attended the lad.

Removing Vitrophone

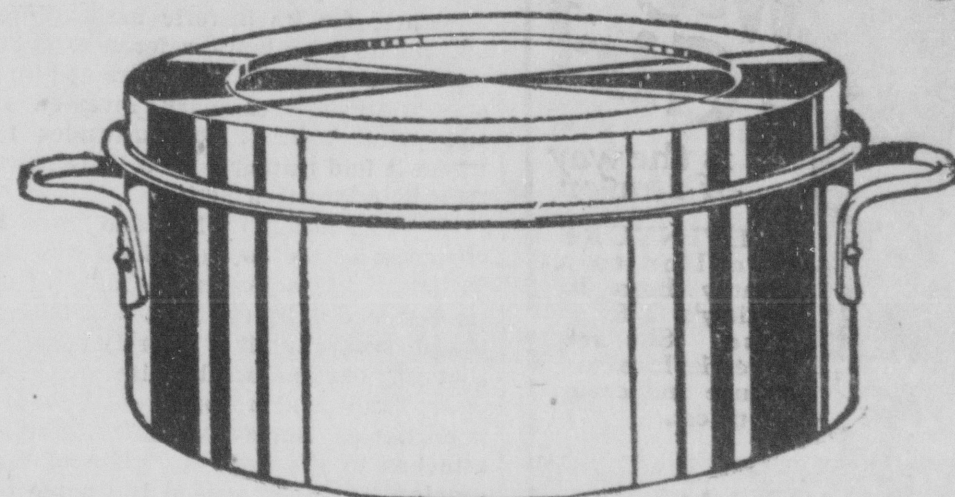

To entirely remove vitrophone from glass, take one-half pint of boiling water and a piece of soap sufficient to make a good lather. Saturate a cloth and place cloth on the window. Let stand for a few moments. Take a clean cloth saturated with ammonia (double strength) place on glass for a few moments. The vitrophone will begin to loosen and can easily be removed with a thin knife blade.

GRAND CHAPTER MEETING.

ARMAGEDDON NAME TO CONJURE WITH

Few Spots Richer in Historic Associations.

In this day of fascinating exploits in historic places there is scarcely a more interesting undertaking, or one with richer promises of results, than the surveys and excavations which are about to be made at Armageddon. For centuries that resounding name has been of both practical and mystical significance, for its historic associations and for its apocalyptic reference, while its dramatic injection 13 years ago into our political vocabulary invested it with vital interest to multitudes to whom it had hitherto been little more than half-forgotten fiction.

"The Mountain of Megiddo" was a city west of the Jordan which was rebuilt by King Solomon, probably after its destruction by the armies of one of the pharaohs, and it is entirely possible that exploration of the site will disclose ruins and records of first-rate importance. But even greater interest attaches to the adjacent plain of Esdraelon, to which indeed the name of Armageddon has often been applied, and which is one of the most famous battlegrounds of the world. It was there that Barak overthrew and destroyed Sisera and his army, and that Gideon vanquished the Midianites. It was also there that Saul was finally defeated and slain by the Philistines, and that Josiah met a like fate at the hand of Pharaoh Necho of Egypt. On the height overlooking it at the west Elijah fought with the prophets of Baal the great "Battle of the Gods," and across it Jehu drove for the conquest of Jezreel and the kingdom of Israel. There occurred one of the greatest conflicts of the Crusades, and there the armies of Napoleon fought. And finally, in the present day, it was the scene of General Allenby's overwhelming victory over the Turks, which ended their dominion in Palestine.

The site of the city and its immediate environs has been known by many names. Herodotus called it Magdolon. The Egyptians called a place in that vicinity Taanach. In modern times known as Taannuk. The ancient Legion, since called Lefjun, has been thought to be identical with Megiddo itself, and it has been called by the Arabs Ras el-Kishon, meaning head of the brook Kishon; and it has long been known to possess well-preserved remains of buildings of great size and magnificence. The entire region, indeed, is invested with history and tradition surpassed by few spots in the world, and it is cause for rejoicing that American scientific explorers are at last to reveal the treasures of ancient information which probably lie thick beneath its soil.

Philippine Paternalism

Recently there came to Manila, on a boat bringing shell from Bohol, an unusually intelligent youth with some high school education. The company buying the shell wished to employ him, with a view to raising him eventually to an important position. He could not accept the offer, however, "until I return to Bohol and get the consent of my amo (master), so that he will not flog me. I did not tell him I would stay in Manila." In Visayan native culture, expressed in such customary law, deliberate offense to one in authority over you is very grave. It is under such rigid mandate that the coastal barter is safely carried on; the same thing perpetuates the good character of Filipino sailors in the ocean trade.

Grecian Boy Scouts

The organization of the boy scout movement as an educational force among the children of 2,500 new refugee villages throughout Greece has been approved by the ministry of education. Initial plans call for the recruiting of 25,000 scouts.

An appropriation of 10,000 drachmas by the Near East relief will be used to provide uniforms and equipment for a model troop in one of the Athens refugee camps, and it is expected that the American gift will be followed by many similar donations from wealthy Greeks and Armenians. The model troop will consist of picked Armenian boys under fourteen years of age. It will travel to various parts of Greece as a recruiting force.

Waterproofing Golf Clubs

A new process for treating wooden golf clubs makes them waterproof and extremely hard, according to the Popular Science Monthly. Heads of seasoned persimmon wood are subjected to a vacuum that extracts every particle of air and moisture from the wood, which then is impregnated with the newly discovered chemical. The club heads then are dried and hardened. Clubs treated in this manner are said to have greater driving power than other wooden clubs and not to shrink or expand with varying atmospheric conditions.

Lizard Skins in Demand

Lizard farming in England has been greatly stimulated within the last few months since the skins for women's shoes have become fashionable. Lizard shoes for street wear have become popular in London this summer and lizard slippers for evening wear have been the fad for some weeks. Dealers say lizard skin shoes are here to stay, as the material is serviceable and comfortable and not nearly so expensive as is usual when a new idea is introduced. Lizard skin shoes retail in London at from $15 up.

SALOON'S GOING IS A BOON TO LABOR

SECOND EXHAUSTIVE SURVEY SHOWS RISE IN BANK SAVINGS

Trade Gains Thru Improved Morale—Waning of Treating Habit—Moonshiners' Effect Is Deplored—Deaths From Liquor Have Leaped Since 1920 Is Revealed.

"The disappearance of the saloon and the treating habit has undoubtedly been a great boon to the American workingman. Good authority can also be found for the statement that industry has profited very materially thru heightened morale since prohibition went into effect. Deaths from alcoholism have increased since 1920, when they were at a minimum, and they are still below 1910, when the saloon was in full bloom."

These are certain of the conclusions reached by the research department of the Federated Council of Churches, after an exhaustive survey of the effect of prohibition, and presented in the second installment of a series of reports on the subject, made public Monday.

"It is noteworthy that a questionnaire, sent as a part of this investigation to a thousand or more men, directors in important corporations selected at random, asking for their verdict as business men upon prohibition, yielded a predominantly 'wet' result—not, apparently, so much because of adverse effects upon business or industry as because of strong personal prejudice and dissatisfaction with the social and political results of prohibition as they saw them," the report states.

Chicago's Condition Noted. Conditions in Chicago were studied before and after prohibition. Regarding the second period covered, October 1, 1923, to July 1, 1924, the report says:

"In the 18 cases where it was possible to ascertain where the liquor was obtained the following result was found: Saloons, 5; homes, 4; neighbors, 4; poolrooms, 3; disorderly house, 1; restaurant, 1.

"None of the individuals drinking during this second period appeared to have the least difficulty in obtaining all the drink they wanted and whenever they wanted. The Dever raids of October, 1923, closed up places for a while, but very soon afterward drink appeared as plentiful as ever.

"Further," the investigators said, "it was found that the effects of drink appeared to be about the same as they were in connection with pre-prohibition drinking, such as non-support abuse, desertion and the like, with one big exception.

"The drinking of moonshine appeared to have a decidedly bad effect on the mental condition of the individual, which was not present to such a striking degree before prohibition. In seven cases the individual developed a definite psychosis due to drink.

Charity Appeals Cited. "More families gave drink as their reason for asking aid of the charities in 1923-24, five years after prohibition than in 1918-19, before prohibition." The report quotes employers in the district as observing "less absenteeism, more efficient workers, less discharging, much less drinking, healthier and better dressed employees and more saving."

Charts presented on deaths from alcoholic causes showed a drop in 1920 and a rise thereafter, with the exception of cirrhosis, which dropped in 1923.

"It will be noted that the death rate from alcoholism fell lower proportionately prior to 1920 and has risen higher proportionately since 1920," the report says.

In New York it was found, the death rate from alcoholism has jumped sharply since 1920, but the death rate from cirrhosis has remained almost the same. Similar conditions were found in Massachusetts.

Rise in Savings Shown.

"Another interesting point," it was stated, "is that the alcoholic death rate in Kansas has actually increased during national prohibition. It had all but disappeared in 1919, but has flared up somewhat since, altho the 1923 figure showed a slight reduction from 1922."

Statistics are presented to show the rise in savings in banks in recent years, but the report declares that "the appeal to specific economics data increased business activity, growing bank deposits, etc., to prove the effects of prohibition must be made very guardedly."

Many other cases are declared to have contributed to the increased national prosperity since 1921.

TWO WOMEN TARRED AND FEATHERED

By a Cowardly Mob of Men in the Streets of Jacksonville, Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 14. (UP).—Police today sought members of a mob of 150 men who Sunday night tarred and feathered two young white women following their escape from the city prison farm, where they were serving a thirty day sentence on a disorderly conduct charge.

The women, who had served less than two weeks of their sentence, according to police, were taken to a secluded spot by the mob and tarred and feathered. Later, clad only in gunny sacks, they were dropped on a downtown Jacksonville street with a warning to leave town.

Gaining entrance to a nearby rooming house, the two women, who are sisters, cleaned themselves and disappeared, leaving behind them clothing they had worn at the prison farm.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From the Wires by Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

(United Press)

Cleveland, Sept. 14. (UP).—Two armed bandits Monday held up the Max Stein jewelry company in the heart of the city and took diamonds valued a $10,000.

The bandits tied the proprietor, Stein, to a chair with a customer who was in the store. They escaped in an automobile amidst a rain of bullets.

Stein broke loose soon after the bandits left the store and shouted for assistance. Police pursued the bandit car and a running pistol duel thru downtown streets ensued. Finally the robbers abandoned the machine and police recovered the jewels.

Waverly. —A shattered school girl romance is believed to have caused Cleo Newman, 14 years old, to shoot herself thru the heart with a pistol here Monday.

Members of the family said she had been despondent recently after a spat with a boy friend.

The girl dressed for school Monday morning and went to the rear of a barn, where she turned the gun to her breast. Her body was found by a workman.

ROBERT RECTOR MARY R. TOLBERT

Winners of Second Prize in State Fair Health Entrants Contest.

Results of the health examinations of 44 girls and 22 boys who entered health contest at the Ohio State fair, tabulated by the state department of health, were announced Monday.

Irene Wolfe, Coshocton county, aged 15, headed all the entrants with a percentage of 93.336. Walter Briley, 16, Athens county, was first among the boys with a percentage of 93.226.

Four boys and five girls, eight of them in teams from two counties and the fifth, Miss Wolfe, as an individual, ranked at the top in health evaluation. The 66 girls and boys represented county boys' and girls' clubs of 51 counties in Ohio.

The four teams ranking highest were:

First—Montgomery county; Robert Weller, 12, percentage 91.987; Freda Shock, 17, percentage 92.225.

Second—Pickaway county; Robert Rector, 12, percentage, 93.179; Mary Ruth Tolbert, 10, percentage, 90.110.

Third—Athens county; Walter Briley, 16, percentage 93.226; Esther Wilson, 15, percentage, 89.905.

Fourth—Columbiana county; Harmon Hull, 14, percentage, 87.255; Aileen Riddle, 11, percentage, 92.119.

So successful was this year's contest considered by its sponsors, that they are preparing for a broader and more elaborate program for 1926.

These sponsors, the state department of health, the college of agriculture at Ohio State university, the state department of agriculture and the management of the boys' and girls' clubs, have laid out a plan which would include three health examinations during the year, two to be held locally as elimination contests for the selection of county teams, and the third at the Ohio state fair next year. The winning team in the state contest next year will be awarded a cup to be given by the department of agriculture. This trophy will be competed for annually.

Winning teams this year will be given a trip to Chicago to attend the national livestock show this fall.

CONVICT MADE STATE BRICK ARE STAMPED

Every brick that is turned out at the Junction City brick plant by prisoners from the penitentiary, is being stamped "convict made." This action is in accordance with an agreement entered into several weeks ago where, by the state welfare department will be permitted to sell all prison made brick providing they are plainly marked to indicate that they were manufactured by prisoners.

As a result of this agreement, the state is enabled not only to sell paving block to the highway division, but the building brick and even the "seconds" now can be offered on the open market. Disposition of second class brick always has been a problem. The old board of administration sold these to private contractors and builders, and this same plan was carried out in part by Director of Public Welfare John E. Harper, until he was prevented from selling them by order of the courts.

Objection was made to the selling of this brick unless plainly marked as prison made.

STATE'S MOTOR POPULATION IS 1,250,000

Ohio Has a Half Million More Autos Than That of All England.

Ohioans operate nearly 1,250,000 automobiles, according to records of the U. S. bureau of public roads. The state's motor population is thus 500,000 more than that of England, the "Boost Ohio Committee" of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards says.

In operating their automobiles, the motorists of the state use 450 gallons of gasoline per year per car.

In addition to the means of transportation afforded in the 1,250,000 automobiles, Ohio has 94 steam railroads operating in its borders and 85 street railways and interurban lines. Altho they do not figure in transportation to any extent, the canals of the state have a water stretch of 611 miles.

Highways in the state have a total mileage of 85,000. Of these miles, 12,500 are paved and 25,400 are of secondary construction. Twenty millions of dollars are being spent this year on the Ohio state highways system.

Of the 467 American bulk freighters on the Great Lakes in 1924, 351 were Cleveland-managed. The committee declares that in total tonnage Cleveland is a greater port than Liverpool, England.

POSTER CONTEST KIDS ADVERTISE

High School Pupils of Ohio May Now Try Their Hand Says Supervisor.

Three hundred and fifty-two Farmers' institutes are already scheduled for this coming winter, the first three to be held in Monroe, Noble and Tuscarawas counties on October 26 and 27, and since no posters will be issued from the college this year Supervisor F. L. Allen at Ohio State university urges grade and high school teachers to encourage pupils to enter the state wide poster contest to advertise these institutes.

This contest has been open to grade pupils for the past two years. This year for the first time it is open to high school students also. The contest for high school students is to be judged separately and additional prizes of $150 will be given for the best 52 posters. The first prize for both grade and high school pupils will be $25. Second prize will be $15, third $10 the next five $5 each, the next eight $3 each and the next twenty-one $1 each.

The posters must advertise the local institute and must be the handiwork of the pupils who enter it in the contest. The poster must be 14 by 22 inches in size and must be displayed in some public place other than the school building for at least one week before the institute begins.

Local judging will be done at the institute and the best one from each institute will be sent to the State university at Columbus for the final state wide contest.

School superintendents and teachers or your county agricultural agent, can give the details in full.

Cattle Outlook Is Encouraging

Prospects for Scarcity of Fed Steers and Higher Prices Anticipated.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Beef cattle are in a stronger position than a year ago and with prospects for a scarcity of fed steers this fall, higher prices are anticipated, according to the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, in its beef cattle outlook report. A large supply of corn at reasonable prices and a material reduction in the supply of hogs are also in prospect. This should result in an active demand for feeder cattle.

Supply of Cattle.
While there has been some liquidation and consequent reduction in numbers of cattle in some areas, it is not believed that the total market supply of grass cattle this fall will be materially less than the number marketed in 1924. Heavy marketing from important Western cattle production regions during the past three years has been offset somewhat by favorable weather and feed conditions. Calf crops have been large and losses small.

A short corn crop and high corn prices brought about in 1924 a material reduction in the stocker and feeder movement into the corn belt feedlots during the past 12 months. Finishers generally have followed a policy of marketing fed stock early with the result that market receipts during the remainder of the year are expected to be decidedly less than usual and prices should continue upward, especially for the better grades.

A relatively small supply of the better grades of heavy steers is now coming to market and they are selling on a parity with lightweights which commanded a premium through the latter half of 1924 and the first part of 1925. As there is a limited demand for heavyweights they are not likely to command a premium for any great period of time.

Feeder Cattle Demand.
The July 1 report of the department forecast an increase in the corn crop in the Corn Belt states of 35 per cent over last year. The June pig survey showed that the number of hogs on farms is the lowest in several years. If the large corn crop materializes there will doubtless be an active demand for feeder cattle to fill the gap. Higher prices for fed steers will also tend to stimulate demand for feeder cattle as well as for low-grade cattle for slaughter.

No material change in the domestic demand for beef is expected during the remainder of the year, but the smaller supply of hogs as compared with the past year should be a sustaining factor for beef. The European demand for meats increased during the past year, but so far as beef is concerned most of the European trade is supplied from Argentina, and it seems likely that this will continue. As long as European markets absorb the Argentine surplus it is unlikely that there will be any considerable movement of beef from that country to the United States.

Pruning Necessary for Tender Grade Varieties

Pruning is necessary for tender grape varieties such as Concord and Brighton which need to be laid down and covered with dirt to avoid winter killing. The removal of excess wood makes covering easier. Fall pruning is also recommended for the hardy varieties.

Vines in their first season are usually cut back to one or two buds. This may be repeated the second year, particularly if the vines are weak. Developing the permanent training system for the vine is started with vigorous vines in the second season and in all other cases in the third year. The system selected at first should be continued without change. Changing the system will reduce the crop.

The "fan" system is common and easy to follow. Five vigorous canes are selected each fall and pruned to eight or ten buds each. All other growth is removed. With hardy varieties the selected canes may be tied at once to the trellis, spreading the canes like the ribs of a fan. Tender varieties are tied up in the spring after the dirt covering has been off for three or four days.

The "horizontal trunk" system is also common and is very easy to handle for winter protection. One strong cane is left in the second or third year and tied horizontally on a wire about 12 to 18 inches from the ground. The following year the lateral shoots from this cane are cut back to spurs eight to twelve inches long and the shoot at the end of the cane is used to extend the horizontal trunk to a total length of eight or ten feet. After the trunk is developed the lateral growth is cut back to spurs each fall.

Sweet Soil for Hubam

Like the other sweet clovers and alfalfa, Hubam will not grow on sour soil. If your soil is sour, be sure to lime it before seeding the clover. With the many legume crops we have nowadays no small grain should ever be seeded without seeding one of them with it. No matter how much hay a man may have he should always sow a legume with his small grain, if for no other reason than to plow it under in the fall or the following spring.

GOVERNOR'S HUNTING PROCLAMATION

Columbus, Sept. 14.—(UP.)—Governor Vic Donahey has issued a proclamation warning hunters against dangers of starting forest fires during the hunting season which opens tomorrow.

Negligence, he said, might cause costly losses as "fire protection facilities are not available in rural communities as they are in cities."

"I hereby ask each and everyone to be mindful of the dryness that is existing and to help in preventing conflagrations that might be caused unthinkingly," the governor stated.

Sunday's Score
At Circleville—London 2; Circleville 0.

The South Central League baseball season was brought to a close on Sunday, as far as Circleville is concerned, when the Eagle team went down to defeat before the tail end London team, by a score of 2 to 0, suffering the only shut-out of the entire season.

Spit ball pitcher Corcoran had a good day with his slants, having good control and fast breaks, and the locals secured only two safe hits from his delivery, one of these being of the fluke order. After the second inning Circleville never got past first base and only two men reached that far.

Dewey also pitched a very nice game, allowing eight hits, one an inning for the first five frames, and three in succession in the eighth, which was followed by two errors by the locals and London's two runs were counted.

In the first Donahue and Flood both got on, but were left at second and third while two men were retired and in the second Allen reached third. He was hit by a pitched ball and went to third when Smith's attempt to catch him stealing went to the outfield.

A nice double play, Allen to Wilkins to Miller, cut off a run in the sixth. Murray walked and went to third on Corcoran's hit to right. He was caught at the plate when Wilson bunted to Dewey, Corcoran going to third, but Plymell hit into a double.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

Boss Vetoes Pay Boost Voted Him by Employees

Olivet, Mich.—Methods of putting into business the principles of allowing workers to dictate the salary of officials, handling executive business of the company through a council of workers and making the same rules for workers as executives were outlined by William P. Hapgood, president of the Columbia Conserve company of Indianapolis before the conference of the Fellowship for a Christian Social Order.

Hapgood declared he allowed his workers to decide what his salary should be, had repeatedly refused increases of salary and had protested that his salary was already too high.

At present, the speaker said, profits are being used to buy out the stockholders. The goal of the workers is complete ownership of the business.

PRISONERS AT LONDON FARM CANNING TOMATOES

Thirty-five Thousand Gallons Canned 1000 Gallons of Soup—Five Tons of Sweet Corn Husked and Dried—Making of Sauer Kraut to Begin Within Two Weeks.

More than 35,000 gallons of tomatoes will be canned by prisoners at the London farm during the next two or three weeks. Approximately 1,000 gallons of tomato soup will be canned. This is the juice of the small ripened fruit boiled down so that from four to six parts of water must be added when it is served. The 1,000 gallons will make about 5,000 gallons of tomato soup when served.

The prisoners have husked and dried almost five tons of sweet corn. This is hauled direct to the factory from the fields and while one group of men husks the corn, another removes the silks and within an hour after being picked from the stock the corn is shredded and in the dryer.

Experiment.

The canning factory was established as an experiment by the present administration, but so successful has been the work of the prisoners there that an addition may be erected next year to care for the increased amount of canned goods that will be put up for consumption at the London farm.

The supply of tomatoes fresh from the field not only will be enough to supply the needs of the 500 men at London, and the 1800 or more at the penitentiary, but shipments of the canned product will be made to other state institutions.

The making of sauerkraut for use this winter will begin within a few weeks, Director Harper said, Saturday. The prisoners have made several hundred gallons which will be for early use, but more than 1,000 barrels will be made from late cabbage at London and other state institutions. Sauerkraut has been found to be one of the most wholesome dishes that can be served institution inmates, and a larger amount will be made this year than ever before.

FLAMES COVER FIREMEN WHEN GAS EXPLODES

Spark From Automobile in Filling Station Starts Most Disastrous Blaze.

Mt. Vernon, Sept. 15 (UP).—Two firemen were killed and a dozen burned in a $50,000 fire which swept the Knox Oil company storage yard here late Monday night.

The dead and most seriously injured were near a 10,000 gallon gasoline tank when it exploded.

The dead:
Lloyd Squires, 18, volunteer fireman
Ralph Simpson, 50, substitute city fireman.

Two other firemen, Milton Parrott and Forrest Sabbagh, are in a critical condition but have a chance to recover. Fire Chief U. G. Pickard and several other firemen were less seriously burned.

The explosion of the tank tossed several firemen bodily into a nearby stream where they were pulled out by spectators. Squires was hurled over a railway embankment where his body was found later.

The storage yard contained 23 huge tanks of gasoline, each containing from 1,000 to 15,000 gallons of gasoline and other oil products. Twenty of these tanks were destroyed by the fire. The aggregate loss of gasoline, oil and benzol will be more than 100,000 gallons.

Killing for Food, and Fun

The contrast between the native Indians of the jungle, who kill for food, and the white man, who kills for fun, was brought out strongly by T. Gilbert Pearson, who returned to New York recently from a scientific exploration trip to the Isthmus, the Kansas City Star states.

Mr. Pearson told of the ornithological investigations recently carried on in the jungles of Panama, not far from the home territory of the White Indians, at the instance of President Porras of the Panama government, who wished to know what conservation measures were necessary to protect the birds and animals of the Isthmus. The conclusion was reached that the natives, though cruel, were not destructive; they fitted into the natural life of the jungle without upsetting anything. But the coming of the Americans changed the situation. Americans from the Canal Zone would go out on hunting trips and simply kill anything they saw. Vast numbers of birds and animals also had begun to find their way into the markets for American purchasers. To stop this, conservation laws have been passed by the Panamanian parliament.

DINNER-DANCE

Miss Margaret Crosson and her fiancé, Donald A. Wiley, formerly of Cincinnati, now of Washington, were entertained at dinner this evening at the Congressional Country Club by Mr. and Mrs. Logan Payne. Dancing followed the dinner party, at which members of the bridal party were among the guests. They included Miss Theresa Crosson, sister of the bride-elect, maid of honor; Miss Margaret Wiley, sister of the bridegroom-elect; Miss Dorothy Mondell, daughter of former Representative Frank W. Mondell; Miss Virginia McKenney and Miss Eleanor Mills, bridesmaids; Andrew Wiley, brother of the bridegroom-elect, best man; William Wiley, another brother; John Massey and Lawrence Murphy, of Cincinnati; John Christian and Sidney Wardecker, of New York, and Allan Gardner, of Cincinnati, ushers. Miss Crosson and Mr. Wiley have not permitted themselves to be entertained as their friends would like to entertain them and have declined all but a few invitations which are for very formal affairs. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wiley, of Cincinnati, parents of the bridegroom-elect, have arrived from their summer home at Bass Rocks on the north shore of Massachusetts, and until after the wedding are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, at their suburban place, Friendship. Miss Wiley is the guest of Miss Crosson in her home at 1746 M street, a few doors from the home of Speaker-elect and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth. The brothers of the bridegroom-elect are his guests at the Racquet Club.

The father of the groom-to-be is a native of Tarlton, this county.

Grease for Baldness

"I had a bit of good fortune recently," said a Detroit photographer. "I was going past a market when I noticed that quite a crowd had gathered around the carcass of a huge black bear suspended from a hook at the door. I found the proprietor and, after a short session of dickering, he cut a huge chunk of fat from the interior of the former noble animal. I took this home and my wife tried it out—with the result that I now have a large pan of bear's grease on hand. So far, my story is not unusual. But, bear's grease is said to be a most effective hair-grower, and I am now combating the ravages of time very effectually. I apply the grease every night on my bald spot, and I think I can already see where results are forthcoming."

Voice From a Fan

The latest gramophone has no horn, no tone-arm, and no sound-box. In place of these there is a plaited upright diaphragm 14 inches in diameter. At the bottom of this fan is a needle-holder, very like the ordinary one, into which the needle is fitted and set going on the record in the usual way.

This simple apparatus is said to reproduce a voice so well that if the gramophone is placed behind a screen it is impossible to say whether a human being is there or a machine.

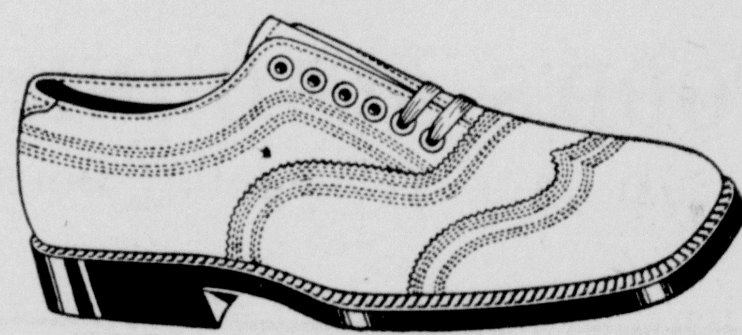

The inventor is a Frenchman, M. Lumiere, who was making investigations into acoustics when he was surprised to hear a strange noise coming from the center of a fan of plaited paper with which he was experimenting.

Prisons De Luxe

There are no fewer than 61 prisons in France where there is only one man under detention. The prisoner leads a life of comfort and comparative luxury. He does a few odd jobs for the head jailer and spends the rest of the day playing cards with the other jailers.

Seek to Stop Blasphemy

An Italian society is conducting a vigorous popular campaign against blasphemy with the approval of the church. In many Italian cities one may see posted on the walls hundreds of such admonitions as "Blasphemy soils your mouth and detracts from the forcefulness of your speech" and "When you blaspheme you make yourself ridiculous." In Florence a society seeks by similar methods to remind the public of the ten commandments. The pedestrian, rounding a corner, may suddenly find himself face to face with enormous letters admonishing him, "Thou shalt not steal," or the other thou shalt not. Anti-blasphemy days are common in many Italian cities, and are the occasions for splendid public processions, in which the local clergy take part.

MEAT PACKERS COMBINATION IS LEGALIZED

Armour-Morris Meat Packing Combination Confirmed by Sec. of Agriculture Jardine.

Washington, Sept. 15 (UP).—Secretary of Agriculture Jardine today announced he had dismissed the complaint against the merger of the Mammoth Armour meat packing interests with Morris and company, another of the big five packing companies.

The complaint was made in February, 1923, by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, under the packers and stock yards act and it charged that the Armour Co., by its $30,000,000 purchase of the Morris company constituted a restraint of interstate commerce and tended to create a monopoly.

The secretary of agriculture administered this law and has power to annul the merger thru a "cease and desist" order if he had found it proper to do so.

Jardine's announcement this afternoon followed a conference with President Coolidge at the White House in which this question was thoroughly gone over. Secretary Jardine held that acquisition by Armour and company of the physical properties business and good will of Morris and company, does not in itself constitute a violation of the law, which provides against manipulating or controlling prices, creating a monopoly or restraining commerce.

With the dismissal which was "without prejudice," Jardine warned "in the event that Armour and company violate any of the provisions of the packers and stock yards act, there is ample power and authority in the secretary of agriculture's hands under that act, to take appropriate and effective action."

Jardine ruled that neither the purpose or the effect of the merger was price fixing, monopoly or unreasonable restraint of trade. He held that the evidence showed that the sanction was summated in order to reduce overhead expenses and to increase the sales of the finished products.

The packers merger case has been before three secretaries of agriculture, Wallace, Gore and Jardine.

"After careful consideration of the entire record and the arguments of counsel," Jardine said, "I find and conclude that the evidence is insufficient to sustain the charges maintained in the complaint and therefore this proceeding is dismissed without prejudice."

NATIONAL BODY TO WAR ON CRIMINALS

Score of Influential Men to Push Fight.

New York.—War has been declared against the growing cohorts of crime. A score of influential men pledged themselves at a meeting in the office of Elbert H. Gary to do their utmost to stem the tide of lawlessness now sweeping the country. Their efforts will be exerted through the national crime commission, which, instead of a temporary body as at first planned, is to be organized permanently with nationwide affiliations.

Headquarters will be opened in New York and crimes of violence will be the first to come under attack. Mr. Gary promised assistance, financial and otherwise. He has been asked to head the commission, but his decision is not yet known.

An executive committee of five or six members, representative of the entire country, is planned. The work of drawing up the nominating slate is in the hands of a committee headed by George W. Wickersham, former attorney general of the United States.

Making Map in Clouds

Half a dozen planes are engaged in the task of producing a novel map of London. Observers are photographing the whole of the Metropolitan area in sections, and these photographs, when placed together and the parts which overlap deleted, will form a complete aerial map. It will show not only the streets, but all the principal buildings, so that it will facilitate sightseeing on the part of country and foreign visitors. The work necessarily means a great deal of flying, and its progress depends upon the state of the weather, but if average progress is made the map will be finished shortly.

HOG THE CORN LESSENS COST

Green County Farmers Figures Shows Also That Stalk Husking Pays.

Farmers in Greene county who hogged off a portion of their corn crop and husked the remainder on the stalk made more money on corn in the past five years than those who cut, shocked and husked it all.

The figures for this survey were kept by the farmers themselves, and F. L. Morison, rural economist at Ohio State university who compiled the figures, says that by proper planning these men of the Ohio corn belt who let the hogs do part of the work, greatly reduced labor costs.

"Based on the figures secured in Greene county from 1920 to 1925," writes Mr. Morison, "a farmer who has 40 acres of corn will spend 143 days of man labor in raising and harvesting his corn crop if he cuts, shocks and husks it, as is the common custom in central Ohio. If five acres are "hogged off" the 40-acre corn crop will take 131 days of man labor. Hogging off not only saves labor in harvesting the corn, but also saves in caring for the hogs.

"Another method of saving man labor is husking corn off the standing stalks thereby saving the time of cutting and shocking. This method is quite common in those sections of the state where oats are grown in the rotation instead of wheat.

"If this farmer with 40 acres of corn, hogs off 10 acres and husks the remainder off the stalk it will require only 78 days of man labor to raise and harvest his corn crop, or 65 days less than if he were to cut, shock and husk it all. At the high wages paid for this extra harvesting labor, the saving in man labor would amount to more than twice the value of the stover left standing in the field."

Hegele Will Probated.

The will of John Frederick Hegele has been probated.

The testator during his life, gave a deed to lot No. 261 on the south side of East Main street to his wife, Lida Agnes Hegele given in lieu of dower interest. The testator gave to his son, Charles Frederick Hegele, 37 feet off the west side of lot 262, on East Main street. The latter died since the will was made. This lot is to be sold by his executor and the proceeds are to be reinvested in a piece of property and the deed to same is to be made in the name of William Frederick Hegele and at his death, it is to be given to his children.

Lida Agnes Hegele is named and was appointed executor. The estate is estimated to be worth $4,250, of which $50 is personal.

The will is dated August 28, 1916, and was witnessed by George H. Pontius and J. F. Bales.

BLAME THE FLORIST

A town was dedicating a new concert hall with appropriate ceremony. The floral decorations were lavish. A visitor remarked to one of the town fathers at a lull in the program: "The acoustics are very good, don't you think?"

"They ought to be," replied his host. "The florist's bill was enough to run up the taxes for every one of us."

AMUSEMENTS

Eleanor Boardman makes her debut as a screen comedienne in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "The Way of a Girl" which opened last night at the Met theater for an engagement of two days. After appearing in such pictures as "Wife of the Centaur" and "So This is Marriage" Miss Boardman in "The Marriage," of Miss Boardman in "The Way of a Girl" demonstrates her versatility by playing comedy with sparkling gaiety and nerve.

"The Way of a Girl" is itself a distinct addition to motion pictures. It is a unique combination of comedy and melodrama, and is enhanced with some of the most spectacular scenes on the screen in recent months.

For sheer beauty of photography, we have seen nothing in recent fight scenes. Robert G. Vignola, the director, and his cameraman, John Arnold, are to be congratulated for the tremendous suggestion of great lighting.

Besides Miss Boardman, the cast includes Matt Moore, William Russell and Mathew Betz. "The Way of a Girl" was adapted by Albert Shelby LeVino from the novel by Katherine Newlin Burt.

NATIONAL FAME.

The Mid-Week Pictorial of New York, under date of September 10, an illustrated paper with a national circulation, published the picture of little Miss Rosemary Jackson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry D. Jackson. The photo-gravure shows Miss Jackson with an armful of Rosemary gladioli, her namesake flower. This is the name given this year's production of Dr. Bales' famed gladioli. To see the picture one does not know which to choose as the prettiest the flower or its namesake.

NEW FORD CAR ON DISPLAY.

Salesroom Open Evenings.

All this week the Ford salesroom will be open evenings for the display of the new, improved Ford car. More than a thousand people looked over this car on Saturday evening. It is universally acknowledged that more than a hundred dollars has been added to the value of the new Ford car, still there has been no change in price.

We will be more than pleased to explain the improvements on the car to any one who cares to drop in to see it.

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milch cows to provide

(1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;

(2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;

(3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

SIX BIG RESERVOIRS UNEARTHED IN WEST

50,000-Year-Old Tanks Are Found in Spring Valley.

Gold Hill, Utah.—A series of six immense reservoirs believed to have been constructed about 50,000 years ago have been discovered in Spring valley, Nevada, by members of the Cosmographic society.

The reservoirs are triangular and range from a few inches to 60 feet in depth. The retaining walls are about 800 yards long and are feathered back into the hillside. The walls are from six to twenty-five feet thick and are believed to be composed of granite, covered with debris.

The huge tanks overlook a once fertile valley, where coal deposits have since been found. It is thought by members of the society that the reservoirs were used for irrigation purposes.

Claims that the reservoirs resulted from glacial action have been denied by the Cosmographic society, which points out that no trick of a glacier could construct six perfectly symmetrical masonry formations.

In a limestone cave in the mountainside above the reservoirs members of the Smithsonian Institution found several crude implements and weapons, among which were several "arrow springs," a little wooden rod with one end bent into a hook. The arrow was placed into the crook and the rod sprung after the fashion of the catapult. The "arrow spring" is considered to have preceded the bow by several hundred years.

Thousand-Year-Old Relics Unearthed by Ohio Farmer

Columbus, Ohio.—The Ohio State Archeological and Historical society received one of the most important finds of prehistoric people ever made in the Buckeye state.

George N. Miller, farmer of near Jackson, gave the institution the skeletons of five adult and two adolescent Indians.

Miller found the skeletons and a considerable quantity of domestic utensils in a "rock shelter" in the vicinity of his farm.

The bones, to which some of the flesh still was clinging, were estimated to be more than 1,000 years old by Dr. W. C. Mills, director of the society.

Bits of pottery, fiber moccasins, bone implements, fiber grave clothing and other material was found in the shelter, all in a remarkable state of preservation, equaled heretofore, according to Doctor Mills, only by discoveries in the arid regions of the southwestern part of the United States and in South American areas.

A rock shelter, Doctor Mills explained, is formed by the washing away of the soft strata of rock, leaving a hard strata to form a roof. Under this natural protection Indians in prehistoric days made their home.

One of the most interesting features brought to light was the fact that apparently there had been some attempt made to embalm the bodies. This was shown by the tissue clinging to the bones.

Fire Attacks 618 Homes in United States Daily

Washington. — Fire attacks 618 homes every day of the year, according to a report made public by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. This means a residential fire every three minutes.

The total fire loss for the period 1919-1923 was $322,310,604.

The causes of the destruction were as follows: Defective chimneys and flues, $36,991,288; sparks on roofs, $31,379,884; stoves, furnaces, boilers and their pipes, $24,348,965; matches, smoking, $19,129,382; petroleum and its products, $16,423,245, and electricity, $15,445,984.

Four of these originating causes were pronounced preventable long since by fire prevention engineers and the other two are acknowledged to be partly avoidable.

324 Bathing Beauties

Study Weather at U. S. Flying Schools

San Francisco.—Army service schools at the Presidio of San Francisco and elsewhere have begun to turn weather prophets.

The military importance of the subject has led army men to a deep study of atmospheric conditions. Graduates of the meteorological section of the signal school are placed on duty along the numerous War department airways, where weather forecasts must be supplied to aviators before they start on flights. Not only temperatures and storms must be predicted, but upper air currents and the direction and duration of winds.

In planning the erection of new airdromes and flying fields the experts are given careful hearings.

SIDE COLLISION

Sunday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock the automobiles of Dr. O.
J. Towers of this city, and Joshua Liston were in a side collision on the Adelphi pike, six miles east of the city. Both machines were being driven in the same direction when the accident occurred; in the collision the Liston machine was turned around in the road; the only person injured was the little daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Liston, who had a contusion on the back of her head.

Birds Faster Than Trains

Wild birds are capable of attaining great speed in flight. There is on record a swallow that traveled at the rate of 106 miles an hour, and a homing pigeon commonly will go more than 60 miles an hour, it is said. Even a pelican has been known to make 50 miles an hour and a wild duck has been credited with 59 miles an hour.

ROAD MANNERS

You are, say, a typical American. You have a car of some kind and call yourself a driver.
You are as good as anybody and not disposed to take anybody's impudence. A free man in a free country?

Now observe freedom as it functions on the highway.

The car ahead is going about as fast as you wish to go, but you don't enjoy being behind. You speed up to pass it and then slow down again to give it your dust.

Again you are going as fast as you wish to go and a car behind toots for gangway. You speed up—not for any particular reason, but just to thwart the other fellow.

You are on the main highway and a car darts in from a side road. A collision is narrowly averted. "Fool," you mutter.

You are on a side road and dart into the main highway, narrowly missing a speeding car, "Fool," you mutter.

No policeman being in sight, you make a left turn where left turns are forbidden. You feel adventurous. Five minutes later another adventurer attempts the same thing and grazes your innocent fender. "Why, the infernal idiot!" you cry.

You attempt to pass a car even though another is coming full speed. You think you can make it. You do. The car you are passing slows down; the one coming head-on slides on locked wheels. Thus two cautious drivers save a fool from his folly.

Your heart skips four beats, but you glow with pride in your achievement.

Freedom is a wonderful thing.
It makes men self-reliant and self respecting and—er—ill-mannered.—Baltimore American.

In Ohio we have a dim-light law which is strictly observed by less than 30 per cent of the drivers.

ATTACKED BY VICIOUS SOW

Last Saturday a little son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hill, of Washington township, was attacked by a vicious sow and had his left arm and head injured before being rescued by his brother.
Dr. Huddel, of Stoutsville, attended the lad.

Removing Vitropane

To entirely remove vitropane from glass, take one-half pint of boiling water and a piece of soap sufficient to make a good lather. Saturate a cloth and place cloth on the window. Let stand for a few moments. Take a clean cloth saturated with ammonia (double strength) place on glass for a few moments. The vitropane will begin to loosen and can easily be removed with a thin knife blade.

SHENANDOAH DESTROYED

ARMAGEDDON NAME TO CONJURE WITH

Few Spots Richer in Historic Associations.

In this day of fascinating exploits in historic places there is scarcely a more interesting undertaking, or one with richer premises of results, than the surveys and excavations which are about to be made at Armageddon. For centuries that resounding name has been of both practical and mystical significance, for its historic associations and for its apocalyptic reference, while its dramatic injection 13 years ago into our political vocabulary invested it with vital interest to multitudes to whom it had hitherto been little more than half-forgotten fiction.

"The Mountain of Megiddo" was a city west of the Jordan which was rebuilt by King Solomon, probably after its destruction by the armies of one of the pharaohs, and it is entirely possible that exploration of the site will disclose ruins and records of first-rate importance. But even greater interest attaches to the adjacent plain of Esdraelon, to which indeed the name of Armageddon has often been applied, and which is one of the most famous battlegrounds of the world. It was there that Barak overthrew and destroyed Sisera and his army, and that Gideon vanquished the Midianites. It was also there that Saul was finally defeated and slain by the Philistines, and that Josiah met a like fate at the hand of Pharaoh Necho of Egypt. On the height overlooking it at the west Elijah fought with the prophets of Baal the great "Battle of the Gods," and across it Jehu drove for the conquest of Jezreel and the kingdom of Israel. There occurred one of the greatest conflicts of the Crusades, and there the armies of Napoleon fought. And finally, in the present day, it was the scene of General Allenby's overwhelming victory over the Turks, which ended their dominion in Palestine.

The site of the city and its immediate environs has been known by many names. Herodotus called it Magdolon. The Egyptians called a place in that vicinity Taanach. In modern times known as Taannuk. The ancient Legion, since called Lejjun, has been thought to be identical with Megiddo itself, and it has been called by the Arabs Ras el-Kishon, meaning head of the brook Kishon; and it has long been known to possess well-preserved remains of buildings of great size and magnificence. The entire region, indeed, is invested with history and tradition surpassed by few spots in the world, and it is cause for rejoicing that American scientific explorers are at last to reveal the treasures of ancient information which probably lie thick beneath its soil.

Philippine Paternalism

Recently there came to Manila, on a boat bringing shell from Bohol, an unusually intelligent youth with some high school education. The company buying the shell wished to employ him, with a view to raising him eventually to an important position. He could not accept the offer, however, "until I return to Bohol and get the consent of my amo (master), so that he will not flog me. I did not tell him I would stay in Manila." In Visayan native culture, expressed in such customary law, deliberate offense to one in authority over you is very grave. It is under such rigid mandate that the coastal barter is safely carried on; the same thing perpetuates the good character of Filipino sailors in the ocean trade.

Grecian Boy Scouts

The organization of the boy scout movement as an educational force among the children of 2,500 new refugee villages throughout Greece has been approved by the ministry of education. Initial plans call for the recruiting of 25,000 scouts.

An appropriation of 10,000 drachmans by the Near East relief will be used to provide uniforms and equipment for a model troop in one of the Athens refugee camps, and it is expected that the American gift will be followed by many similar donations from wealthy Greeks and Armenians. The model troop will consist of picked Armenian boys under fourteen years of age. It will travel to various parts of Greece as a recruiting force.

Waterproofing Golf Clubs

A new process for treating wooden golf clubs makes them waterproof and extremely hard, according to the Popular Science Monthly. Heads of seasoned persimmon wood are subjected to a vacuum that extracts every particle of air and moisture from the wood, which then is impregnated with the newly discovered chemical. The club heads then are dried and hardened. Clubs treated in this manner are said to have greater driving power than other wooden clubs and not to shrink or expand with varying atmospheric conditions.

Lizard Skins in Demand

Lizard farming in England has been greatly stimulated within the last few months since the skins for women's shoes have become fashionable. Lizard shoes for street wear have become popular in London this summer and lizard slippers for evening wear have been the fad for some weeks. Dealers say lizard skin shoes are here to stay, as the material is serviceable and comfortable and not nearly so expensive as is usual when a new idea is introduced. Lizard skin shoes retail in London at from $15 up.

A feature in connection with Club Clothes is the fact that the models are always correct and in good taste. The designing staff steers clear of the extreme, which accounts for the good looking lines of Club Clothes.

We are showing a splendid array of dependable fabrics in the season's choicest colorings. Among them you will find the suit which you will want, which will fit you and which you will enjoy wearing.

And when you consider the low prices at which Club Clothes are sold, you naturally wonder how it is done. The answer is simply this: Club Clothes are manufactured by a large organization with a large sales volume.

The tailoring factories are operated on a highly efficient basis and the cost of manufacture is reduced to a minimum. Let us show you.
